For 2019 Awardees – COVID-19 Alert:

2019 grants funded by ACF of Flagstaff do not have to be spent on the programs for which you applied if your organization was impacted by COVID-19.

The most obvious need is for healthcare, social services and education programs that had to shift funding efforts to the impact of the pandemic. Another example is for arts & culture programs that were canceled, leaving the organization without those fundraising dollars.

In these cases, we encourage you to redirect the funds to the most urgent issues you are facing. If, for example, you need funds to keep the lights on, you can divert grant funds to the operational budgets.

In addition to immediate needs, we understand the need to request a funding extension. You might have a program that was funded through the grant cycle that has been postponed but will be held when the emergency is lifted. Your school based program may have been canceled but will continue in the fall. For these things, we will work with you on extending those funds to the next school year.

We ask that you stay in communication with us and the Collaborators on your needs with the 2019 funding. You will still be filling out the interim and final reports and ask that you note this change in the area provided and modify the budget as needed.

Please call or email regarding 2019 funding and how best to make this adjustment.
